FIX PROGRAM FOR FALL EVENT

Arrangements Committee Announces
Attractions of Horse Show and Fall Festival.

75 BOOTHS TO BE ERECTED

Free Attractions and One Concert by Indianapolis News' Newsboys Band Arranged For.

Arrangements have been completed for the Rushville horse show and fall festival which will be given here next week. There will be something going on from Tuesday morning until Friday night.

Beginning Tuesday morning a parade of horses, mules and ponies here for the show will be given at ten o'clock. The showing and awarding of premiums will begin immediately after dinner. The program calls for heavy draft horses and mules Tuesday afternoon.

At four o'clock the first free attraction will be given. At eight there will be a second free attraction and a band concert. The Rushville band will play for the show Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Wednesday all day will be taken up with the awarding of premiums in the classes for ponies and general purpose horses. At four and eight o'clock free attractions will be given. At the close of the show Wednesday afternoon one of the races will be held. Wednesday night following the free attraction there will be a big automobile parade and a big display of fireworks.

Thursday will be devoted to the show of light harness horses. This is the one class that has the widest appeal among horse lovers and where the competition is always keenest. The whole day will be given over to this show so that ample time can be had for the showing. At the conclusion the other race on the program will be pulled off.

It is intended that the show shall end before three o'clock, the time scheduled for the big industrial parade for which great preparations are being made. The following firms have already promised to enter this event and others will participate:

F. B. Johnson drug store, Capp Plumbing company, Princess theater, Polk Hardware company, Will Bowen, Gunn Haydon, Court House Drug store, Court House grocery, Cowing implement store, Fred Cochran grocery, Brown Bros. grocery, Ellman & Sons, J. W. Tompkins, Fred Neutzenhelzer, Cooning bakery, Fred Boxley, O. C. Brann, George C. Wyatt & Co., furniture store, Bells Five & Ten Cent store, Oneal Bros. and the Daily Republican.

Following the parade and at eight o'clock at night there will be free attractions and at night a band concert. Friday free attractions will be given at four in the afternoon and at night, preceeding a grand concert by the Indianapolis News' Newsboys' band at eight o'clock. The combination sale will be held at the sale barn in South Morgan street Friday and Saturday.

The special committee on booths succeeded yesterday in obtaining seventy-five orders for booths. They will be erected by next Saturday in all probability so that merchants will have ample time to decorate them by the opening of the festival.

The fact that the booths will be uniform in size will add greatly to the beauty of the streets. Some merchants will make displays in their booths while others will place chairs in them for the comfort of

Former Gary Mayor Fails to Obey
Grand Jury Subpoena.

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 14.—Thos. Knotts, former mayor of Gary was cited for direct contempt of court today by Judge Markey of criminal court. Sheriff Porttens was directed to bring Knotts to court Saturday without fail. Knotts has failed to obey subpoena to appear before the grand jury investigating the juggling of bills in the last legislature.

MRS. SARAH PUGH DIED LAST NIGHT

Expires of Cancer at Close of Day
When She Seemed to be in a Much Improved Condition.

FUNERAL, FRIDAY MORNING

Mrs. Sarah Pugh, 76 years old, a well known and highly respected woman of this city, died last evening shortly before six o'clock at her home in North Main street. Mrs. Pugh had been ill for several months suffering from cancer but yesterday appeared to be improved. She was taken suddenly worse about five-thirty o'clock and died in a very short time. Her death while expected came as a great shock to her many friends.

Mrs. Pugh was a member of the Presbyterian church and had lived here practically all her life. She was the mother of the late Edward Pugh. Mrs. Pugh is survived by two children. Mrs. Lee Dancer of Camden, Ohio, and Lewis Pugh of Minneapolis, Minn. The funeral services will be conducted Friday morning at ten-thirty o'clock at the late residence and burial will take place in East Hill cemetery.

THREE MEETINGS ARE SCHEDULED

Gathering of Republican Party
Workers Set For Friday Night
Committee Meeting Saturday.

A SPEAKING AT NEW SALEM

An organization meeting of Rush county Republicans will be held in Republican headquarters over Callaghan's dry goods store Friday night. The county committee will meet at the same place Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. A Republican meeting will be held in the school auditorium in New Salem Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. This in substance tells what the Republicans have mapped out for the remainder of the week.

A. J. Ross will speak at New Salem and the Rushville band will go from here to play for the meeting. A number of Republicans will go down in automobiles.

A general invitation is extended to all Republicans to attend the organization meeting Friday night. One was held last Friday night and the attendance was excellent. Those who were not present last week missed a good meeting, as those who were there will testify. There is plenty of room for all who may attend.

DAMAGES FOR $10,000 ASKED

A. P. Walker Today Brings Suit
Against Farmers Trust Co.
Demanding Accounting.

MANY ALLEGATIONS IN SUIT

Charges Defendant Fraudulently Retained $6,000 Collected by Different Means.

Alpheus P. Walker today filed suit against the Farmers Trust Company of this city asking for an accounting and alleging that he has been damaged in the sum of $10,000. The suit is the result of the settlement between Walker and his creditors at seventy cents on the dollar, which was affected under the receivership.

The complaint states that Walker was a customer of the Farmers Trust Company, which was engaged in doing a general banking business under the state laws and had money deposited there subject to his check. It is alleged that the defendant, through its officers and agents, charged the plaintiff attorney's fees on notes discounted with defendant and has made contracts and arrangements with attorneys by which defendant would share in the fees collected. It is stated that $1,000 was so collected and charged in an illegal and improper manner.

Walker avers that on March 31, 1914, he was in failing circumstances financially and all of his property was in the hands of a receiver appointed by the court. The plaintiff states that he proposed to settle with his creditors at seventy cents on the dollar and that an agreement to this effect was entered into, with the exception of the Farmers Trust Company, which refused to sign the agreement, according to the complaint, until the plaintiff would pay the defendant a sum in addition to that provided in the contract for settlement.

The complaint alleges that in order to secure a settlement on the basis of seventy cents on the dollar Walker was compelled to pay the defendant the sum of $500 and delivered certificates of stock for seventeen shares of capital stock in the Rushville Glove company of the par value of $1,700 with a cash market value of $2,000.

It is stated that the plaintiff further agreed and did deliver to the defendant trust company a chattel mortgage and not secured by the plaintiff to the value of $1,000 and permitted the defendant to retain certain notes discounted by Walker and endorsed by him and on which he was liable as endorser at any time.

It is stated that the amount so collected amounted to $6,000. It is alleged that the defendant fraudulently retained this amount and that he has been denied an accounting which he now wants in addition to $10,000 damages. Heley, Fenton & Joseph, of Indianapolis, and Watson, Titworth and Green represent the plaintiff.

SUIT FOR SUPPORT

Mrs. Mollie Vance has filed suit against J. Frank Vance for support alleging that he is an habitual drunkard and because of this neglects his family. The complaint states that their three children depend on her for support, when he is capable of making good money but will not do so because of drinking. Mrs. Vance demands $10 a week support money.

MUCH CROWDED INTO SHORT DAY

When Harry Clevenger, With Aid of His Father and Brother, Kidnapped His Own Child.

WHY HE STARTED SOMETHING

Wife Files Assault and Battery
Charge, Divorce Suit and Habeas Corpus Proceedings.

Mrs. Jessie Clevenger, wife of Harry Clevenger, came near establishing a new record for court procedure today, following the kidnapping of her child from the home of Will Casey, corner of Spencer and Ninth streets by Mr. Clevenger, his father, Henry Clevenger and younger brother Charley. Mr. and Mrs. Clevenger had parted and she was staying at the Casey home.

First she filed an assault and battery charge against Harry Clevenger, her husband; then brought habeas corpus proceedings against all three of the men to secure possession of the child, and then to top off the day's proceedings, filed suit for divorce, asking the custody of the child and demanding a temporary restraining order.

Mrs. Clevenger alleges that early this morning the three men appeared at the home of Casey and forced an entrance by smashing the front door of the house and then after beating her, took the child from her arms and left. The child's name is Dorothy. She is two years old. Mrs. Clevenger claims that Harry, her husband, knocked her down and she exhibited a bruised face as evidence of a fight.

The police were called but arrived too late to witness any of the trouble. Mrs. Clevenger then filed an affidavit charging assault and battery. He was arrested but because Prosecutor Smith was busy with the grand jury the case will not be heard until tomorrow.

The next move was the filing of the habeas corpus proceedings. The three men and the baby were brought into court and the trial was postponed until Thursday morning at nine o'clock because A. L. Gary, attorney for the Clevengers was not ready for trial. Judge Megee granted a continuance.

Later this morning came the suit for divorce. Mrs. Clevenger alleges cruel and inhuman treatment and wants the custody of their child. The court granted the temporary restraining order.

To top off all of this procedure John Joyce, attorney for Mrs. Clevenger, threatened to take the action of the three men in breaking into the house before the grand jury or file charges of malicious trespass against them.

USED ABUSIVE LANGUAGE

Mrs. Pearl Short Makes This Charge
in Suit For Divorce.

Mrs. Pearl Short has filed suit for divorce from Orbie Short. Mrs. Short alleged cruel and inhuman treatment and states that he called her vile names and used abusive language. The complaint states that he was sullen and morose when about their home and that he would stay away several days at a time without cause on her part. They were married November 11, 1900 and separated October 10, 1914. They have one daughter, Helen, age thirteen years, and she asks the custody of the child.

Hunt Refuses to Withdraw Order
Sending Troops to Border.

(By United Press.)

Phoenix, Ariz., Oct. 14.—Governor Hunt today refused to modify the instructions he had given the militia to be ready to move to the border at a moment's notice.

"I am a man of peace," said the governor, "but I informed the war department that our border must be protected. If the government will not protect it, we will."

Hunt admitted addressing telegrams today to the war and state departments but refused to discuss them.

Secretary of War Says Sending Troops to Mexican Border Might Precipitate War.

GENERAL BLISS REPORTS

(By United Press.)

Washington, Oct. 14.—Following a conference with President Wilson today Secretary Garrison, of the War Department announced that he had sent to Governor Hunt of Arizona a vigorous protest against sending militia to the Mexican border. He pointed out to the governor that such a move might precipitate war with Mexico.

General Bliss, commander of the American border troops, wired the department, also strongly advising against sending of militia. He announced he had concentrated fourteen troops of cavalry at Naco and that there were now four troops at Douglas, Ariz. He reported heavy firing at Agua, Trieta, just across the border from Douglas. He said he had established strong control at Douglas and Naco. Colonel Hatfield at Naco wired that bullets fired across to the American side were not deliberately aimed. He reported three Americans wounded.

RESUME ATTACK ON GERMAN CENTER

Allies Take Offensive, it is Unofficially Reported in Paris, But Not Discussed.

FRENCH STOP ENCIRCLING

(By United Press.)

Paris, Oct. 14.—Unofficial reports of the resumption of the allied attack in force on the German center reached here today. The office of the ministry of war declined to discuss them but it was admitted that such a move would be strategically sound. It was pointed out that a sustained attack on the center which French air scouts have reported as weakening recently by the withdrawal of German forces to the Northwest, would force a hurried massing of the enemy at this point—and curtail the operations of the menacing wing to the French left, under General Von Boehn.

Success of the French wing opposed to the German encircling movement in Belgium was stated in this afternoon's three o'clock communique. The town Ypres has been occupied by a Franco force.

MURDER, RAPINE AND CRUELTY

Russian Hordes Satisfy Lust by Violating Scores of Defenseless
Peasant Women

BY KARL H. VON WIEGAND
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

Koenigsburg, Oct. 14.—(By Telegraph to Berlin and thence via Nauen by wireless to the United Press, through Sayville, L. I.)—The czars Cossack hordes left a bruise—a bleeding trail of desolation and wore—across the fertile fields of East Prussia as they swept backward into their own land, smarting under defeat from German arms.

I have reached this city after a 600 mile automobile trip through this area of desolation—following a path of blasted lives, of tortured men, women and children and of devastated homes almost unbelievable. I carried a special permit from the German general staff.

The battlefields of Tannenberg and Neidenberg were bad enough, with their still present reminders of the sacrifice of human life, but the countryside told stories of murder, rapine and inhuman cruelty almost beyond belief. Around Neidenberg the Russian hordes satisfied their lust by violating scores of defenseless peasant women—some of them sixty and seventy years of age. The countryside around this place—near the Russian frontier where the czar's forces for a time re-formed to fight against the overwhelming pressure of the German lines forcing them back was ravaged terribly. The Russian soldiery took full revenge, for their defeat, on the women. Catholic sisters and young girls bore cruelties worse than torture of the battlefield and were left dying as the hordes passed on. The Russians killed every male they encountered who was of military age. The countryside has been stripped of all of its men between 14 and 15. Older men who were not killed were ruthlessly plundered.

Nor was this horror confined to the country near Neidenberg. The Russian investment of Konigsburg was accompanied by the same riot of lust. At Abschwangena tiny village ten miles from Konigsburg, 57 men and women were shot, including eight boys between 14 and 19. I heard the stories of some of those who witnessed the inferno of blood and slaughter and pillage. The father

Sunday School Rally Day was observed at the M. P. church last Sunday. A splendid program was rendered by the scholars Sunday night. A large crowd was present.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Stevens living near here, entertained a number of guests at dinner Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Daubenspeck and son, Robert, Mr. and Mrs. John Murphy and son, Gilbert and Miss Edith King of this place were among the Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Norris.

Miss Hoton, one of the teachers of this place, and Miss Hazel Roach were entertained at dinner Sunday by Miss Ruby Stewart.

Mr. and Mrs. James Mercer and daughters, Misses Eva and Vera, spent Sunday the guest of relatives at Milroy.

Rev. and Mrs. Moody Edwards and son, Robert, Mr. and Mrs. Frank George and son Lloyd motored to Brookville Monday.

The meeting at Little Flatrock closed Sunday night. There were six additions by confession. The singing evangelist, Ross Davis, of Greenfield, was unable to be present Sunday and in his stead Miss Helen Norris sang a beautiful solo at the morning service and a quartet was rendered at the evening service by Mrs. Lelia Edwards, Misses Goulda Wier, Mildred Myers and Miss Hoton.

Quiet a bit of excitement was caused at this place Friday evening when the report went from mouth to mouth that the church was on fire. Everyone was rushing in the direction of the church with buckets ready to fight fire. It proved to be only the light of a tableau which was being practiced to be given Sunday night at the Rally Day exercises.

DANGER IN DELAY

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous For Rushville People to Neglect.

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they so often get a firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health will be gradually undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, lumbar, urinary troubles, dropsy, gravel and Bright's disease may follow as the kidneys get worse. Don't neglect your kidneys. Help the kidneys with Doan's Kidney Pills, which are so strongly recommended right here in Rushville.

Mrs. Ella Endicott, 125 S. Harrison St., Rushville, Ind., says: "One of the family suffered from severe pains through his back and had trouble in straightening after stooping. His kidneys were also irregular in action. Finally, he used Doan's Kidney Pills and they removed the troubles."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Endicott had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

NOTICE OF IMPROVEMENT

RESOLUTION NO. 36.
A resolution for the Improvement of East Ninth Street from Willow Street to George Street. In the City of Rushville, Indiana.

Be it resolved by the common council in the city of Rushville, Indiana, that it is deemed necessary to improve the North side of Ninth street from Willow street to George street by constructing cement sidewalks and grading lawns, in accordance with the profile, details, drawings and specifications on file in the office of the department of the common council of said city; and such improvement is now ordered.

The cost of said improvement, including the cost of street and alley intersections, shall be assessed upon the real estate abutting on the north side of east Ninth street between Willow and George street, and upon the city of Rushville, Indiana, if said city is benefited by such improvement, all according to the method and manner provided for in the acts of the general assembly of the State of Indiana, entitled, "An Act concerning the municipal corporation," approved March 6th, 1905, and act amendatory and supplemental thereto. Assessments if deferred are to be in ten equal annual installments, with interest at the rate of six per cent per annum. A bond or bonds shall be issued to the contractor in payment of such work, unless the property owner pay said assessment before said bond or bonds are issued. Under no circumstances shall the city of Rushville, Indiana, be held responsible for any sum filed or sums filed from said property owner or owners from said work or for the collection of same, or for the payment of any bond, bonds, certificate, or certificates issued to said contractor in payment of such work, except for such moneys as shall have been actually received by the city from the assessments for such improvement, or such moneys as said city is by said above entitled act required to pay. All proceedings had, and work done in the making of said improvement, assessment of property, collections of assessments, and issuance of bonds therefor shall be as provided for in the said above entitled act and amendments thereto.

Adopted this 6th day of October, 1914.
The Common Council has fixed Thursday, the 22d day of October, as a day upon which remonstrances may be filed and heard by persons interested in or affected by said described public improvement and on said day at 7:30 p. m. said Common Council will meet at the Council Chamber in said city of Rushville for the purpose of hearing and considering any remonstrances which may have been filed or which may be presented, and will hear all persons interested or whose property is affected by said proposed improvement and will decide whether the benefit that will accrue to the property abutting and adjacent to the proposed improvement, and to said city, will be equal to or exceed the estimated cost of the proposed improvement as estimated by the City Civil Engineer.

Witness my hand and seal of the City of Rushville, Indiana.

No Alum— No Dyspepsia

Look to the food. Eat heartily of hot breads, hot biscuit, hot cakes, made light and tasty with Royal Baking Powder, and snap your fingers at dyspepsia. It is the tasty, appetizing food that aids digestion.

There is a quality in Royal Baking Powder coming from the purity, wholesomeness and fitness of its ingredients, which promotes digestion. Food raised by it will not distress. This peculiarity of Royal has been noted by hygienists and physicians, and they are accordingly earnest in its praise, especially recommending it in the preparation of food for those of delicate digestion.

England Has New War Song.
London.—All England is singing a new war song. It is by Sir Frederic Cowen and Harold Begbie and makes a strong appeal for enlistment in the army. One of the verses of the song, which is entitled "Fall In," follows:
How will you fare, sonny, how will you fare,
In the far-off winter night,
When you sit by the fire in an old man's chair,
And your neighbors talk of the fight?
Will you slink away, as it were from a blow,
Your old head shamed and bent?
Or say, "I was not with the first to go;
But I went, thank God, I went!"

of a fourteen year old boy, his eyes bloodshot with days of weeping told me how the Cossacks shot down the little group, one by one.

"They were not killed in one volley," he said. "The Russians shot them one by one. My wife and myself got on our knees and prayed to God that our boy might be spared. We saw him, his hands outstretched to us in unavailing appeal, that we aid him. They bound my wife and myself together and forced us to see our own baby—for he was only a mere child—fall before their bullets, as he cried to us to aid him."

Why not now?

Gag Rule.

In the days when Joe Cannon was speaker of the house, the Democratic party protested against so-called "gag rule," but the people have just witnessed a sample of the sort of "gag rule" that they have been hearing about from the lips of Democrats a score of years. Strong-arm methods were used by the Democratic majority to force the bill imposing a tax of $100,000,000 on the taxpayers in the United States, in addition to other burdens of taxation, through the house of representatives. A special "gag rule" practically eliminating debate was brought in. Republicans resented both this alleged "war" measures and the method of passing it but they were overwhelmed by the Democratic majority who were determined to enact this deficiency measure in order to cover up their extravagant expenditures and the failure of the Underwood Tariff Bill to produce sufficient revenue.

"There is a body of 435 members the representatives of 100,000,000, free men, sitting in what has been regarded a deliberative assembly, the greatest representative body of the greatest and most powerful nation on earth, said Congressman Fess, Republican, of Ohio, in protest the "gag rule." "In a House supposed to be the open forum of debate, we have brought in a rule to gag these representatives of this people into the enactment of a measure entailing an additional burden of $105,000,000. We are allowed four hours to debate it. We are denied the right of amendment. We are ordered to hold our noses, shut our eyes and swallow the dose. Such flagrant abuse of the power of the majority cannot be placed on patriotic grounds. It is not patriotism to deny the right to be heard in this body when the rights of the Nation are at issue. It poorly comforts with either consistency or common sense for the party in power to put it upon the grounds of patriotism."

Now and 1898.

When, in 1898, this country went to war in a just cause and money was needed to put our military forces on a fighting footing, a war tax was proposed. Oscar Underwood, now Democratic leader of the House, then a Congressman, was against this tax. He said, "this tax will fall almost entirely on the hard working and industrious artisans, merchants, mechanics, farmers and professional men of the country, but not on idle wealth that is protected, but never made to pay for the benefits received. I know its features are partisan and unjust; they will oppress the masses of the people! They are unnecessary and the same amount of revenue could be raised from sources that would equalize the burdens of taxation and not be felt by the people."

Now, our country is at peace with all the world, yet the Democrats, led by Mr. Underwood, proposes an alleged "war tax" and under his leadership impose "gag rule" cutting off debate and forcing the fictitious war measure through the House of Representatives. Will not the average man see the inconsistency of the Democratic leader and his party?

The Democratic tariff has even caused Connecticut clock makers to cut down their time. It is having a worse effect on the clock industry than a strike. The hands, who view the situation with alarm, are complaining bitterly and say they don't see how the Democratic Congressmen from Connecticut could have the face to support the Underwood bill. However, after the November elections, they say they are expecting the pendulum to swing the other way and they hope new conditions will spring up and show Wilson he is not the whole works. They say the reduction of the tariff is the key to the whole clock industry situation.

Boer Revolt in South Africa Among English Subjects Thought to be Staunchest Ones.

PICKED TO HEAD INVASION

Germans Undoubtedly Got to Them While They Were Planning Campaign in German Territory

J. W. T. MASON
(Former European Manager of the United Press.)

New York, Oct. 13.—The Boer revolt in South Africa has been begun among troops who were supposedly the most loyal to the empire. They were selected to head the invasion of German southwest Africa, from which fact the British authorities must have had full confidence in them. German agents undoubtedly got to them while they were planning an invasion of German territory across the Orange river. This fact is the most significant in the mutiny for it means the possibility of disaffection among the greater part of the South African Boers who largely outnumber the British. The proclamation of martial law throughout the whole of the union of South Africa instead of in the little area of the cape provinces where the mutiny originated means either that the loyalty of the Boers everywhere is questioned, or, more probably, that the British do not know the extent of the disaffection.

It would be impossible for Great Britain to hold South Africa unaided at this time, if the Boer revolt becomes general. The recent efforts to induce Portugal to enter the war on the side of the allies may have been caused by warnings of a south African revolution. Portuguese East Africa borders the British possessions and a Portuguese army would be able to effect service. If the disaffected Boers are able to create serious trouble, it may be accepted as certain that Great Britain will hold out sufficient inducements to Portugal to gain her assistance. But the situation has not reached this stage yet. The premier of the United South Africa of General Botha who was generalissimo of the Boer forces in the war against Great Britain. He is now absolutely loyal to the British empire and he has great influence among the Boers. His handling of the situation will be of the utmost assistance to Great Britain. If the present uprising is due only to long smoldering disaffection among the elder Boers and hasn't spread to the younger generation General Botha probably will be able to smother it without great difficulty.

Our County Ticket

The Republicans of Rush county are to be congratulated, this year, on the personality of the ticket which they have placed before the people for their votes in the coming November election. They are men, without a single exception, who are worthy of the support of the people of the county. There is not a single one of them against whom anything can be said. And as to their character and fitness for the offices which they seek, all who know them, will testify to their efficiency.

HON. WM. M. SPARKS, who heads our ticket as a candidate for Judge of the Circuit Court, occupied the bench here in Rush County for many years and is a well known Christian gentleman of the highest ideals and is imbued with a spirit of progress in all things.

ALBERT C. STEVENS, our candidate for Prosecuting Attorney, is a young lawyer of high ability and efficient scholastic attainments. He sustains a high reputation and character in our community.

WM. R. JINNETT, for Representative, is well known to the people of the county, having made the race for that office two years ago, leading the ticket at that time and failing of election by only a few votes. His efficiency is well known and his popularity attested by his former race.

JOHN O. WILLIAMS, our candidate for Treasurer, is not a whit behind the men we have already named in standing and character. He is always in the front rank for every good word and work.

J. K. JAMESON, our candidate for Sheriff, has pursued the career of a master blacksmith among us for years and has the respect and admiration of the entire community.

DR. LOWELL M. GREEN, our candidate for Coroner, stands in the front rank in his profession and enjoys a very large practice. We consider the Republicans most fortunate in securing him as one of their candidates.

CHESTER PECK comes next as our candidate for Recorder. Chester is a young man, who has the confidence and esteem of all who know him and is thoroughly familiar with the line of work in the office to which he aspires.

ELWOOD KIRKWOOD, our candidate for Surveyor, stands among the other candidates as the peer of any of them and is a man thoroughly prepared for the work of the office which he seeks.

HENRY W. SCHRADER, than whom no better man could be elected as Assessor. He knows our county and would make a most efficient officer.

JOHN T. BOWLES and PLEASANT A. NEWHOUSE, our candidates for Commissioners, have been with us as neighbors and citizens long enough for us to know that they can be trusted with the affairs of the Commissioners' Court.

HIRAM H. HENLEY, JOHN W. DAVIS, JOHN F. MCKEE, ROYAL T. LEE, JOHN W. ANDERSON, R. P. HAVENS and J. ED. CALDWELL our candidates for Councilmen are leading citizens in their several communities and thoroughly able to discharge the great responsibilities of the offices which they seek.

From top to bottom the ticket is sound; it is honest and reliable. And it is worthy of the support of the people of Rush County. There is no higher citizenship in our great state than in this county and these men are representative of this high citizenship.

They are worthy of, and we believe, will receive the support of the people of this great county. Voters, if you elect these men, they will serve you well for they are men who believe in "a government for the people, of the people and by the people."

REFERS TO WORLD'S SERIES

Athletics Did Not Break and Throw Games Away—Defeated by Determination of Braves.

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON
(Written for United Press.)

Boston, Oct. 14.—The thing that couldn't has occurred. The utterly absurd has become a reality. The impossible and vain is true. Boston's Braves are worlds champions after the most astounding world's series ever played. Their victory, 3 to 1, over the world's champion Athletics reversed the title yesterday and won for the astonishing Braves not only the title, but the first time it ever has been won in four straight games.

They beat the great Athletics so easily that yesterday the crowd seemed more like a congregation at a wake than a throng watching the finale of a world's championship series.

It was not as if the Athletics broke and threw away their games. They did not. They played their game and played it perfectly, and were beaten by the rush and determination of the Braves. The Athletics played just as they always do, figured the plays the same way, and were stopped by pitching.

The Braves played more truly to their form than any team in a world's series ever did. They were less than five per cent above what was expected of them, and the Athletics were less than eight per cent below what we expected them to do. But the Braves, by that invincible and understandable courage that carried them through the National League season swept the Athletics off their feet and beat them.

It was not youth against age; weary team against a young and hustling one, but it was a fighting, aggressive, undaunted club against one playing the game according to prescribed rule and trying to match skill and science against nerve and and aggressive attacks.

The final game was almost a foregone conclusion. The Braves were filled with that indomitable spirit that has carried armies and men to victory, and the Athletics, beaten and whipped at every turn and stopped by every kind of pitching, dropped their doblers.

It is a serious thing to charge a team with "quitting" but the Athletics quit in the final game and instead of fighting in the last ditch they went methodically through the game as if they were very dear friends of the dead departed, playing their final respects.

It was a calm and unemotional game in spite of the fact that the ex and present mayors of Boston cluttered up the playing field and press-agented themselves. There was about as much of the emotional to it as there is to killing day on the farm. The Athletics fought along steadily, stolidly and Father Mack remained like a long icicle on the bench while his men retired in the assault upon Rudolph who was pitching a magnificent game of ball. On the other hand, Stallings' men were hustling, fighting, rioting on the bench, scratching gravel and winning. They were the first to score and although the Mackmen evened it up, they came through with two more smashes that drove in runs.

Today J. Evers, ex-shoe shop man of Troy, N. Y., is the greatest man in the world. It was his fierce drive over second base that sent 2 Braves scurrying homeward and put the result beyond doubt. Up to that point it had been a long series of question marks. The Athletics were hitting hard for five innings, but always after the chance to score was gone. Once they managed to get two hits together but sharp work by the Brave infield nulled the hits. The smash of the game was caused by a runner trying to take two bases. He had them won although he never should have tried to take two bags on a hit at that stage of the game and he was crowded off the bag and nailed. The other chance that the Athletics lost was when Walsh, after seemingly stowing away the game with a hit walked into a trap and was caught off second with no one out. Evers took the throw with one hand, shoved it onto the runner and broke up the battle.

From that play on, the Athletics were a beaten ball club. They showed it in their every movement and they went to destruction in the same quiet, constrained way they have won championships.

There is not an excuse for the Athletics. They were whipped because they lacked the nerve and fight. They had as many and even better chances to win as did the Braves but the fighting spirit of Stallings' men carried them through to their amazing victory.

The Athletics simply were caught flat-footed; when they tried to get up speed, they were unable to do so and all the luck and the breaks of the game ran for Boston. The Braves won one game because Stallings switched his batting order, believing Mack would send a left-handed pitcher against them. In every case in the four games save in the first, when Deal happened to be the victim, the Braves happened to have the producing hitters up when hits were needed. They won the series by hits made after two men were out and it was Evers and Gowdy, who produced those hits.

50 MEN EXPECTED TO PARTICIPATE

"Every-Member Canvass" of St. Paul's M. E. Church Will Take Place Tomorrow.

LUNCH TO BE SERVED AT NOON

Tomorrow the "every-member canvass" day will be observed at the St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church. The men of the church who are to participate in the canvass are urged to report at the church by 8:30 in the morning. Automobiles will be used freely to transport the canvassers from place to place, and especially to enable them to visit the country members of the church. It is anticipated that at least 50 men of the church will participate in the canvass and visit every member of the church at some time during the day. Many of these men will close their places of business in order to engage in the canvass. At the noon hour the women of the congregation will serve a dinner at the church to the members of the church and its friends. Elaborate preparations have been made for the dinner as a large crowd is expected. No charge will be made for the dinner. The pastor has sent out a circular letter to every member of the church announcing the day of the canvass and inviting each one to either stay about home on that day or come to the church that the canvassers may not miss anyone. At night in the place of the regular prayer meeting a mass meeting of the entire membership will be held in the auditorium of the church in which all will be given an opportunity to take part. It is anticipated that tomorrow will be one of the greatest days in the history of the church.

LOSS OF CRUISER OFFSET

Russians Retaliate by Sinking Two German Submarines

(By United Press.)

Petrograd, Oct. 14.—Loss of the cruiser Pallada was offset by the sinking of two of the fleet of German submarines whose torpedoes sunk the vessel, according to an official statement issued by the minister of marine today. The statement still withholds the location of the incident but from semi-official source it is deduced that it occurred more than a hundred miles from the known German base in the Baltic, indicating a far greater range of usefulness for the submersible craft than had heretofore been supposed.

HUSBAND BOUGHT VINOL FOR WIFE

Mrs. Kerns Suffering from Nervous Breakdown Thought She Would Never Be Well Again, But Recovered.

So, Cumberland, Md.—"For a long time I suffered from a general nervous breakdown of the system, and thought I would never be strong again.

"My stomach troubled me so I could not eat, and sometimes I was so weak I was not able to do my housework. Finally my husband heard about Vinol and asked me to try it. After the first bottle I was greatly improved. I have now taken five bottles and it has done me a wonderful amount of good. I sleep soundly, am well and strong, and feel like a new woman and you may publish this for the benefit of every nervous, run-down man or woman who wants good health."—Mrs. D. W. KERNS, So. Cumberland, Md.

It is the combined action of the curative elements of the cods' livers, aided by the blood-making and strength-creating properties of tonic iron contained in Vinol which makes it so efficient in restoring health and strength to weak, nervous, over-worked, run-down men and women.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding your money will be returned if it does not help you.

ABOUT PUMP REPAIRING

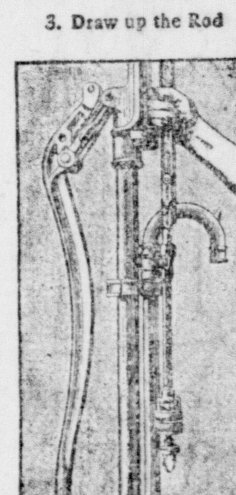

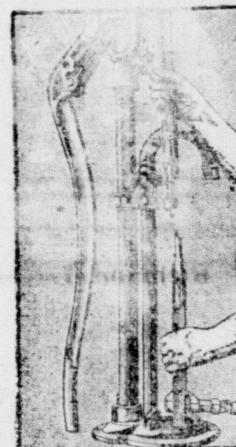

When placing a new leather on a

RED JACKET SO-EASY-TO-FIX

the valves are easily removed through the base of the pump as the illustrations show. The cost is little more than the price of the repair. You can do it. The only tool needed is a monkey wrench.

Compare this with the time, trouble and expense of removing ordinary pumps from the well, to make the same repair. You see it's not the cost of the leather but the cost of putting it on.

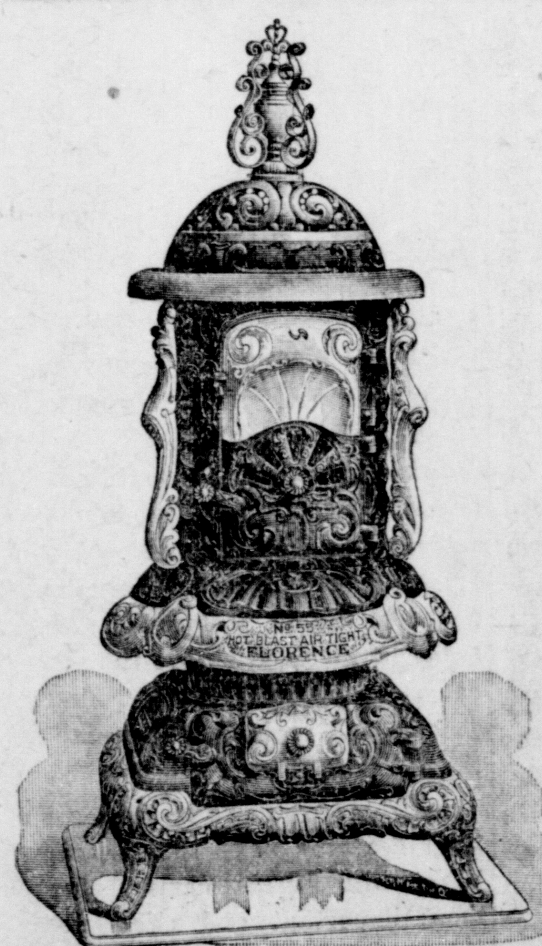

This and other economical features of "So Easy-To-Fix" pumps will be explained at your request.

No one can tell how far the war will extend. If Turkey should become involved, Russia will probably seize Constantinople, which has been her cherished aim for more than a century, and thus secure entrance to the Mediterranean. This will be a menace to England's communication with India. The dominions of the Czar have indeed already approached quite too near the English possessions by the land route and her purpose to dominate India, China, all Asia and at last the world, is well known to those who have studied her history and policy. She will undoubtedly seek to acquire Austrian Poland, Prussian Poland and the shores of the Baltic, and it was announced a few days ago (But probably without authority) that she proposed, if successful, to set up in Germany those independent states, like that of Hanover, which existed before the German empire was formed; in other words, to destroy the German empire and break up its territory into little principalities. Thus she will become the supreme power in Europe as well as in Asia and irresistible throughout the world.

Now Russian domination would be far more baleful for humanity than Germany's domination. The German empire governs its own subjects extremely well, better probably than any other government in the world. The Zaber incident and its arbitrary conduct in East Africa show that it has not yet learned the art of governing people who are not German and who are not sympathetic with German ideas, still Germany is an enlightened nation and the general welfare of humanity, would not greatly suffer in her hands.

But the Russian empire is semi-barbarous. Three-fourths of the population are totally illiterate. Their habits of thought are medieval. They are superstitious to the last degree and the tyranny of the autocracy has stifled not only their physical freedom but their spiritual life. They are practically a nation of slaves. The government is thoroughly and utterly corrupt. The press and all other agencies for the propagation of a healthy public opinion are remorselessly stifled and the terrible punishments inflicted upon those who venture to oppose or criticize the government. The political police, administrative exile in Siberia, the secret trials and incarceration in the terrible fortresses of Russia, the massacres of helpless communities of Jews at the instigation of the government itself, all these things have long been a stench in the nostrils of humanity. The idea of Russia domination is unthinkable. It means the reversion of all the world to a lower and baser type.

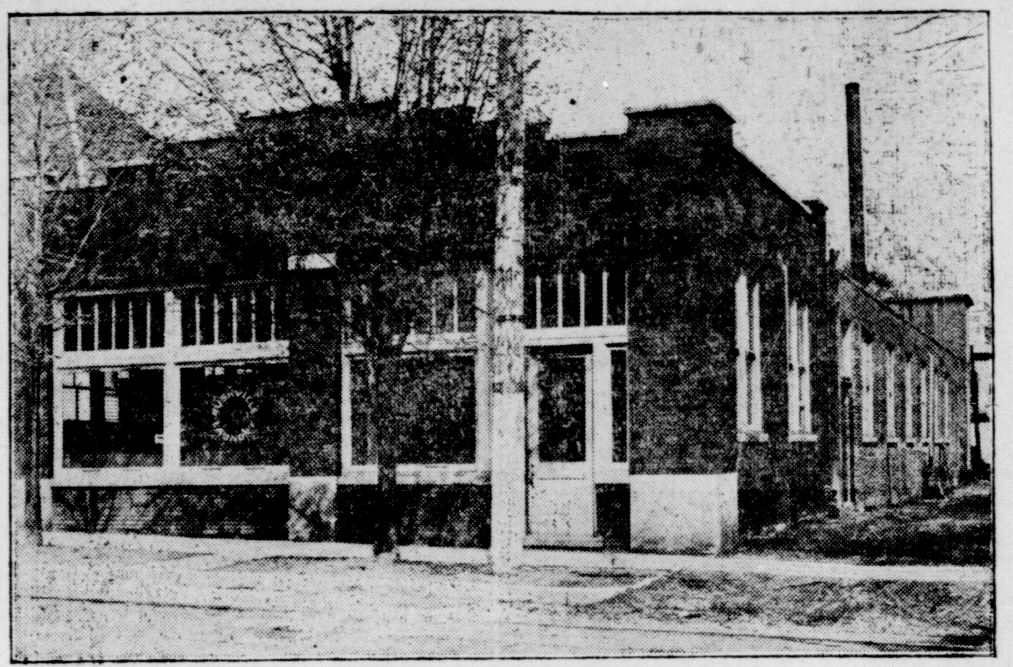

If this war should end in the subjugation of Germany it is not impossible that it may be followed by a struggle between the allies themselves, just as the Balkan war, which ended in the defeat of Turkey, was followed by another between the nations that had been victorious, and it may even be that in this way Germany may recover some of her power just as Turkey recovered Adrianople from Bulgaria.

Of course all these suggestions are merely imaginary forecasts of some of the possibilities of the struggle. The dismemberment of Austria, or on the other hand a revolution in Russia and the establishment of more liberal institutions there and perhaps also in Germany and Austria, the spread of socialism, or perhaps a general federation of all the nations in a pledge to maintain the peace hereafter, all or any of these things are not beyond the limits of reasonable possibility.

No one has or can have a very definite idea of how it will end. Perhaps differences between the allies will develop during the progress of the war itself and it may save the German empire from the defeat which otherwise seems to be impending. It is certainly true that the alliance between England and Russia is an unnatural alliance which cannot endure permanently.

None of us can even faintly conceive the whole of the tremendous field of possibilities that lies behind the present gigantic warfare between the great nations of the world.

Foulke Says They Must Not Become Disrupted if They Hope to Beat Germans.

MANY THINGS MIGHT HAPPEN

Financial Burden Most Likely to Play Part in Final Ending of Great Struggle

Richmond, Ind., Oct. 14.—If the allies in Europe are not disrupted, they will in the end probably subdue Germany and Austria. What will follow? Asks William Dudley Foulke, Mr. Foulke, who is a student of history, made a close study of European conditions first hand. He is in a German province when the war broke out and for a time acted for the United States.

"There is occasion for the greatest misgiving," says Foulke. He mentions the Russian menace, said by him to be much more terrible than the German; suggests the possibility of a second war between the allies and suggests possible readjustments in Europe. Foulke is president of the National Municipal League and the author of books on European subjects. This is the last of his series of articles on the war written for the United Press.

BY WILLIAM DUDLEY FOULKE.
(Written for United Press.)

What will be the outcome of the European struggle? All through the month of August while I was in Germany there was the most absolute confidence among the people that they would win and a determination that after victory they would exact such terms as would make it impossible for France ever to raise her hand against Germany again. Indeed during the first advance through Belgium and into France when the Germans reached a point only a few miles from Paris, the fall of the French capital seemed inevitable and the French government by its removal to Bordeaux indicated that it regarded such a result as extremely probable. If it had not been for the delay occasioned by the plucky defense of the Belgians at Liege and by the stubborn resistance made by the small army of English troops, the Germans would probably have been in Paris long ago.

That would not have ended the war, but the immense contributions which the Germans would have levied upon that city would have given her temporarily at least a very great advantage in the struggle. At present the prospects of the allies are more flattering and even the Germans by this time must be wondering whether in thus struggling against so many adversaries they have not undertaken a task greater than they supposed—a task beyond their ability to accomplish.

They are likely still to obtain some victories. But in the long run the superior resources—especially the financial resources of the allies—are likely, if there be no disruption in their ranks, to insure their ultimate success, just as the superior resources of the North in our own Civil War financially determined the struggle. After a year or two Germany and Austria may well find themselves financially unable to support the tremendous burdens of such a war and perhaps finally unable to feed their populations. It is from this cause rather than from the numerical inferiority of their armies that their final defeat is most likely to occur. If Germany and Austria has sufficient resources they could probably defy the allied troops indefinitely. But the war is likely to end with the utter exhaustion of at least one party and perhaps or both parties to this terrible struggle.

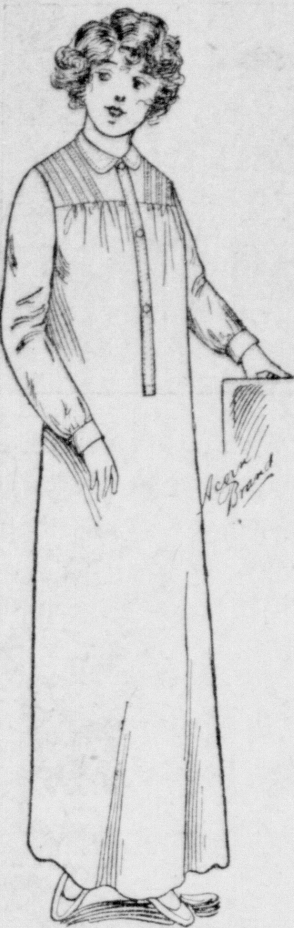

But if it shall be so that Germany and Austria are overcome, what will follow? Here there is occasion for the greatest misgiving. Indeed the statesmanship which will be required to adjust the claims of the victors will be far greater than the military genius required for the conduct of a successful war. There will necessarily be an effort to cripple Germany so seriously that she can never again, at least during the present century, aspire to a position of leadership among the European powers. Alsace and Lorraine will probably go back to France, an enormous indemnity will be extracted to pay for the damages which the allies have suffered, especially for the destruction wrought in Belgium. The German fleet will be reduced to insignificant proportions so that England will have no cause to fear it in the future. Probably the Kiel canal will be neutralized for the equal service of all nations and possibly Schleswig-Holstein may be returned to Denmark. Bosnia and Herzegovina will most likely be annexed to Serbia. Italy, who will probably be involved before the struggle ends, may receive the Trentino, Trieste and perhaps other places on the Adriatic.

And here we come to the most critical features of the settlement. What will Russia demand for her most important and vital part in this world struggle?

At the present moment Russia has been more successful than the other allies. If this should continue until the end Russia will claim to be the dominant figure in the settlement.

Department of Agriculture Says

URGES PROPER HANDLING

Now is Time to Prepare for Profitable Corn Crop by Selecting Best Seed Corn

(By United Press.)
Washington, Oct. 14.—Apple dumplings, apple fritters, apple pie, apple sauce, apple cobbler, in fact every apple concoction known to man, except possibly an apple jack, ought to appear on the menu often from now on, according to a bulletin just issued by the Department of Agriculture.

Apples are going to be plentiful this year, and in addition to this, a big falling off in the exportation of apples to Europe is expected as a result of the European war. Europe annually imports 2,000,000 barrels of American apples.

"The problem of distribution will prove to be more complex this year owing to certain conditions resulting from the European war," says the department. "Both the growers and dealers are urged to view the situation with optimism and to prepare for the disposal of Europe's usual portion in other ways. It is suggested that with judicious handling the demand at home may be increased and the commercial crop marketed with relatively fair success by all."

The Office of Markets of the Agricultural Department urges exporters to carefully watch the movement and assure themselves of steamer space and a demand on the other side before making shipments. American shippers are also advised to try means of stimulating the demand for apples in Latin America and in the Orient. It is suggested that by co-operating with the Department of Commerce extensions of trade in these countries can be accomplished.

"For the benefit of those who may not be disposed to exercise especial care in handling the crop," continues the bulletin, "on the ground that it will not be worth while, the Office of Markets suggests it as probably being true of this year that not only proper handling but also great diligence will be required for effecting satisfactory distributions."

When Croup Comes Treat Externally

The old system of dosing delicate little stomachs with nauseous drugs and opium syrups is wrong and harmful. Try the external treatment—Vick's "Vap-O-Rub" Croup and Pneumonia Salve. Just rub a little over throat and chest and cover with a warm flannel cloth. The warmth of the body releases vapors of Pine Tar, Menthol, Thymol, and Eucalyptol, that loosen the choking phlegm and ease the difficult breathing immediately. One application at bedtime insures a sound night's sleep. Vick's is better than internal medicines for all forms of cold troubles. Three sizes—25c, 50c and $1.00.

Autumn is the time to prepare for a profitable corn crop the following season, says the Department of Agriculture in a bulletin just issued. At this time the seed is most abundant and the very best can be obtained before it has been in any way reduced in vitality. Many farmers let the opportunity pass, expecting to purchase their seed corn in the spring, but the Agriculture Department's specialist in charge of corn investigations advises that the autumn is the best time to select good seed.

The best place for the farmers to obtain seed corn is from the fields on his own farm, or in his neighborhood, that were planted with a variety which has generally proved most successful in that locality. If a community has an experienced and honest corn breeder on whom it may rely, the seed corn may be obtained from him. The corn breeder who has demonstrated year after year the superiority of his corn will demand a special price for his superior seed. Such corn breeders are improving corn as cattle breeders have improved cattle. He has used practical methods which the average farmer has no time to apply. Five dollars a bushel is not too much to pay and will be a profitable bargain for both parties, says the Department.

The Department of Agriculture, in line with its advice to farmers on how to fight pests which threaten their crops, has just issued a warning against fraudulent loan schemes into which many farmers are being drawn these days. It points out that these schemes furnish an argument for early enactment of a sound rural credit system.

"Some one recently remarked that it was astonishing how hard some men were willing to work in order to make a dishonest living," says the Department. "The field of rural credit is already producing a number of examples. Certain companies are actively at work promising farmers cheaper money than anyone else is able to get on equally good security. The eagerness with which some are accepting the bait is one indication of the need for a sound system of rural credit. It is not wholly the fault of the farmer who is taken in."

MOTHER OF BOY GIVES TESTIMONY

Mrs. Carlton Cheney a Witness in Suit Brought by Son Against Local Physicians.

DOCTOR'S REPORT IS MADE

The hearing of the Cheney damage suit in Shelbyville continues with slow progress. Mrs. Carlton Cheney, mother of Harrold Cheney, the plaintiff in the action for $15,000 damages from Drs. J. T. Paxton and Hugh Elliott of this city, was on the stand most of yesterday and her testimony was completed by noon today. Mrs. Cheney testified that the two physicians pronounced her son's trouble due to rheumatism when they were first called to treat him.

Dr. Carl Payne, of Franklin, who had been ordered by the court to make an examination of the Cheney boy submitted his report to the court. He found that the left leg was three-quarters of an inch short and that the neck of the left femur bone was fractured. Several depositions were read to the jury before the testimony of Mrs. Cheney.

Beer for the Patient

The increasing tendency of physicians to prescribe beer for convalescents is ample proof of the purity and tonic properties of this great malt beverage. Beer is the ideal diet for the patient because it supplies the body with pure food of the best quality in a partly digested form.

Beer is a tonic of pleasant flavor and beneficial to both the weak and the strong. When you drink beer you are not only drinking an appetizing beverage but you are nourishing your body with a food prepared from the most wholesome grains by Nature's own chemistry.

Ask your doctor why he prescribes beer for his patients.

Ooh La, Big Black Man of Senegal Shows Rare Nerve When Wounded

BY WILLIAM C. SHEPHERD

Paris, Sept. 12. (By mail to New York).—I'm not allowed to give any information to the German soldiers but if you have any friends in the German army, you'd better tip them off that if they see among the enemy a emund-sized, black man with a big smile who answered to the name Ooh La they'd better shoot first or beat it.

My friend Ooh La, in spite of his smile and his ivory teeth, is one of the most terrible men I've ever known. Senegal is his home and Ooh La is as black as the ace of clubs.

Ooh La came up from Senegal three weeks ago with thousands of his black brothers to help the allies against the Germans. No one paid Ooh La any particular attention for a long time. He fought at dozens of places but his black brothers all fought about the same, so Ooh La didn't stand out anything extra. It takes a special superlative murderousness to make a fighter conspicuous in a crowd like Ooh La's.

At last there came the battle with the Germans on the Ourco near Meaux where with ten to one against them, the men from Africa fought with bullets, knives, bayonets and fists, singing like devils, treating German bullets and shells as if they were only mosquitos. The result was that the Germans went away from there and that about 10 o'clock that evening the American ambulance corps in Paris got word that there was need for them at Meaux. The American doctors reached the deserted town about midnight and were led by an aged peasant straggler to the church.

It was an inferno of pain. Three hundred and fifty blackmen were stretched about on the stone floors, all wounded. The building was in pitch darkness except for one candle which was bobbing about in ghostly fashion at the altar end of the aisle. The doctors found it was carried by a peasant woman who was doing her best for the wounded by washing their ghastly injuries with arnica, her household remedy for all aches and pains. The doctors sent out for their auto lamps. The groans which had filled their ears had been almost as much as even a doctor could endure but the sight that met their eyes in the glare of the lamps was almost paralyzing.

The church was like a giant can of bait with human beings for the writhing worms. One doctor noticed a thing whose torn clothes were black and stiff with dried blood. He threw his light on it. The thing turned the whites of its great eyes, showed great white teeth in a huge smile and said: "Will Monsieur kindly give me a cigarette?"

It was Ooh La. The doctors took him first. He had nine wounds all bad and painful.

"Get a stretcher" ordered a doctor. "Don't trouble" said Ooh La,

"carry me out in your arms. Time is precious for the other men."

Two ambulance men picked him up. Outside the door, Ooh La said:

"Now you fellows put me down and give me a cigarette."

They were not going to obey until Ooh La swore in Mohammedan, showing that he meant what he said. Then they followed orders. They put a cigarette between Ooh La's lips and lighted it. He drew a massive "pull" to the very bottom of his lungs, closed his eyes in blissfulness and then blew out a torrent of smoke. "All right," he said, "now I'm ready."

They put him in the dark ambulance where the butt end of his cigarette glowed on his smiling black face and went back for more sufferers.

Three hours later Ooh La was in bed at the American hospital, in Paris, sound asleep. They say a turtle has no nerves of suffering. Ooh La was a human turtle. The doctors had to awaken him from a deep sleep to dress his wounds. They found his left arm shattered by a bullet, among his other injuries. Ooh La never groaned during the probing. Half an hour after the doctors were through he was sound asleep again.

Next day his fever was 105. But all day long he smoked and smiled and demanded bread. The dainties didn't appeal to him. A big loaf of brea that he could break into biteable chunks was his ideal meal. He was a favorite of the nurses at once, until the truth came out about him. This was, that during the battle, he had killed eighteen Germans by bullet or bayonet. Everyone of Ooh La's friends had kept scores and they all agreed that Ooh La with his eighteen Germans led them all.

It jolted the nurses a little at first, I think. Most of them are American girls who have ideas about killing that Ooh La wouldn't understand. Still they also have the characteristic American worship for efficiency, so Ooh La's stock is above par again.

Ooh La isn't his real name either. What his real name is doesn't matter. But he had to be called something and when the following incident occurred he got the Ooh La name: "Those Germans are very obliging," said Ooh La to his doctor, one day.

"How do you mean?" asked the doctor.

"Why, when I started at one with my bayonet, he got down on his knees and raised his hands upward toward me so that they were out of the way of my bayonet. Most men put their hands across their stomach when they see my bayonet coming."

"And what did you do?" asked the doctor.

"Ooh La" said the black patient, making the motion of a man pitching hay with a fork.

The doctors say Ooh La, the smiling super-killer will be out of the hospital and back on the job again within a few weeks.

DECIDES LAND PRICE TOO HIGH

Fairview Burial Ground Association
Dismisses Suit Brought to Obtain Addition to Cemetery.

UNDUE INFLUENCE CHARGED

Damage Suit of John W. Ryon,
Against Clyde Kitchen, a Queer
Case, is Dismissed Today.

The Fairview Burial Ground Association does not want four acres of ground owned by John Smelser for an addition to the cemetery bad enough to pay $2,000, the price established by the appraisers appointed by Special Judge Innis, who heard the case last week. That the price was considered too high is evident because a written dismissal was filed this morning in the circuit court. The Fairview Burial Ground Association, which controls the cemetery at Fairview, desired an addition to the cemetery and filed a petition in court asking that appraisers be appointed to appraise the ground owned by Mr. Smelser. Smelser at first opposed the appraisal and threatened to appeal the case to the higher court. Samuel Innis was appointed to hear the case and held that the Burial Ground Association had the right to exercise the power of eminent domain and ordered appraisal to be made by J. Milt Stiers, Cassius King and Lon Mull.

The appraisers fixed the value of the ground, the improvements and damages at $2,000, which would be five hundred dollars an acre. This price was satisfactory to Mr. Smelser and he was ready to accept but it did not suit the cemetery people. They considered the price too high and made the fact known. The written dismissal stated that they considered the valuation too great. The case was dismissed and the cost of the appraisal was placed among the other costs in the case and will be paid by the plaintiff.

One member of the cemetery board charged that one of the appraisers to his knowledge had been unduly influenced in making the appraisal and stated that the Smelser land, in his opinion, was not worth the $2,000 as listed in the appraisal.

The damage suit of John W. Ryon against Clyde Kitchen, demanding $5,000, was dismissed this morning on motion of the plaintiff and the costs taxed against him. Ryon alleged that Kitchen influenced his son Elmer Ryon to quit the employment of his father and thus hurt his business. It is understood that father and son have adjusted their troubles and the case is at an end.

WILL DISCUSS CELEBRATION

Indiana Club Women Set Aside Days
on Winter Program to Talk
Plans For Centennial.

WHICH WILL BE HELD IN 1916

All Advocate Proposed State Memorial Library and Museum as a Permanent Monument.

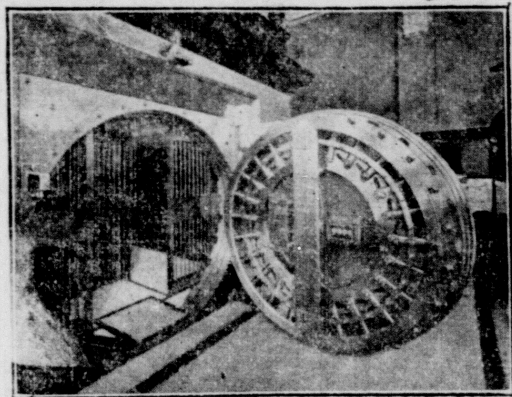

The women's clubs of Indiana have begun their fall and winter meetings. On their programs, in practically every town and city in the state, they have days set aside for a discussion of how Indiana shall celebrate her hundredth birthday in 1916. All advocate the proposed State Memorial Library and Museum as a permanent monument marking one hundred years of Hoosier progress in science, art, literature and the ways of life. In November the voters of Indiana will vote on the question of appropriating $2,000,000 for the building of a centennial memorial and the celebration of the great event.

Indiana's club women have a keen appreciation of library values. In their delving for facts bearing on subjects to be discussed at club meetings they like to have books—books—books! They want books with wide range of information and varied viewpoints. Hundreds of them use the State Library in their research work and appreciate its service, but all note the need of more room, more shelves, more books. The State Library, in its present crowded condition, can not be fully effective as a disseminator of knowledge. Persons seeking to use the books in the library have to be jammed into some corner at some little table. Even then they have to undergo being jostled in order to make aisle room for other searchers. It is while working under such conditions that the Indianian realizes the need of his State for a new library building.

A new library building, such as is proposed for the centennial, would put Indiana in line with such States as New York, Wisconsin, Missouri, Virginia, Kansas and other commonwealths that have an appreciation of an extensive library service. With better accommodations the Indiana State Library would be able to lend books to every resident of the State, the only requirement being that the borrower pay the parcel postage, a trifling sum.
